CATTLEMEN'S CONVENTION.

Leading a Band of Desperadoes Into Resolution-Luyken's Rifle.

Among the delegates to the National Cattlemen's Convention, which has just finished its session in St. Louis, were some of the most celebrated frontiersmen in the United States. Many of them were famous as scouts, fighters, and detectives, and some of them had figured at the East in politics or business before taking up their present pursuit.

W. II. Llewellyn would be a noticeable figure anywhere. He is unusually tall, of magnificent physique, and his carriage is such as to impress the observer with the belief that he has been a participant in stirring events. Probably no man on the border has a better record than he. More than a dozen desperadoes have registered oaths that they will have his life, and every one believes that he will yet pay the penalty for his devotion to law and order. When the stock raisers on the Niobrara found the depredations of the Middleton gang unbearable they made several unsuccessful efforts to hunt down the thieves. Discoveving the names of the men instrumental in this pursuit, the chief outlaw sent them letters warning them that if they ever appeared on their ranches he would cut their heads off and forward them to Omaha, to be exhibited on poles. This made the stockmen furious, and they became more determined than ever to effect his capture.

Llewellyn had some local reputation in the North Platte and Deadwood coun-Wishing to obtain his views, the stock-

After the more prominent members of the gang had been thus disposed of, Cook and his assistants made preparations to take Ed Franklin, a desperate thief, who had until then eluded them. They found him asleep in a saloon at Golden City. He had been drinking, and when Cook placed his hand on his shoulder and told him that he was wanted he jumped up with an oath.

"Come quietly, now," said Cook. "Quietly? Not much. No man from Denver can take me," he exclaimed. By this time he was wide awake, and was making rapid passes with his fists at everybody who undertook to try as a detective. He had made several come near him. KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great
